2676. SHRI KRISHNA KUMAR BIRLA: Will the Minister of EXTERNAL AFFAIRS be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government's attention has been drawn to the news-item captioned "US high tech to remain 'out of bounds' for India" as published in The Hindustan Times, dated the 15th January, 1999;

(b) if so, whether the US have decided not to give nuclear and other sensitive high tech to India as long as it does not sign CTBT; and

(c) if so, the reaction of Government on this issue?

THE MINISTER OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS (SHRI JASWANT SINGH): (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) India has been subjected to restrictions on supply of nuclear and other technologies under US practices as well as the ad hoc technology regime of the Nuclear Suppliers' Group (NSG) for a number of years. These restrictions pre-date India's nuclear tests of May 1998.

Government has made it clear that it will not negotiate its security interests on a quid pro quo basis. India's defence and security related programmes are basically indigenous and will be continued on the basis of India's security perceptions.
